

NORWAY, CHINA AND BRAZIL DRAW NEAR WAR

HALF MILLION
THE YEAR FROM FARMER PURSE

Kirkelde-Drown Grain Grading
Bill Will Levy Heavy Direct Tax Against Growers

PRODUCER MUST STAND
WHOLE BURDEN OF LAW

No Equitable Distribution of Expense Made as in Terminal Elevator Act

Farmers generally, league members
in particular, are just awaking to the fact that the Kirkelde-Drown grain grading act, a league measure, and signed by the league's governor, imposed upon the North Dakota grain grower a direct tax of not less than a half million per annum. Under the guise of a benevolent piece of legislation, it has been discovered, there masquerades one of the most unfair acts of class taxation which any legislature has ever been persuaded to pass.

Terminal Elevator Fund.
Senate Bill No. 314, the grain and grading act, was trotted through during the closing hours of the last session and promptly signed by Governor Frazier. It provides that no grain may be purchased which has not been first graded by a licensed deputy.
Fees for grading are to be fixed at a standard which will maintain this vast machine, of which Dr. E. F.
Ladd is at the head, and which will,
further, set aside 25 per cent of the entire cost of operation to create a fund for building public grain storage warehouses (terminal elevators) within the state.

Naming of Inspectors.
Whenever the town or community provides a suitable building and scales for housing such deputy, Dr.
Ladd is to name a public deputy weigher and grader, "the upkeep of said building, and scales shall be borne by the state, out of funds secured on account of fees collected for inspecting and weighing."

What It Will Cost.
There are in North Dakota 240 incorporated villages which may be expected to make application for a deputy inspector. The smallest elevator pays its manager $1,500 per annum. It is reasonable to expect that a man who possesses sufficient experience to grade and dock and weigh grain to the satisfaction of both purchaser and producer may command $1,800 per year, which would make the bill for this item alone $432,000 per annum, and this does not take into consideration more than 600 stations in unincorporated towns where the local elevator man would be made a deputy inspector, entitled to a certain percentage of the fees for his services. Presuming a minimum cost of $100 the year for the maintenance of each weighing and grading station, this item would amount to $24,000, or a total of $456,- 000 actual operating expense. To this, then, must be added the 25 per cent
which is to be set aside each year for the creation of a terminal elevator fund, or approximately $162,000, raising the grand total which must come out of the grain grower's pockets each year to more than $600,000. And this amount is the least which may be anticipated. The probabilities are that it will be much more.

Grain Grower Pays It All.
This tax, it will be noted, comes directly from the grain grower. It is not distributed over all property,
town and city lots, buildings, vacant lands, railroad property, public utilities, etc., which under Senate Bill
No. 84—the terminal elevator act which Governor Frazier vetoed—
would have paid a very large per cent of the whole. Under Senate Bill No.
314 the grain grower pays it all, and he has no means of evading the tax,
as every elevator is prohibited from buying grain which has not been graded by one of Dr. Ladd's inspectors.

25 Cents the Load.
The fee exacted by the average
public scales for weighing an ordinary load of livestock, coal or other commodity which need not be graded is 15 cents. It is safe to presume that 10 cents will be regarded as a reasonable fee for the grading, which is a matter of much more difficulty than the mere weighing. This would mean that for each load of grain the farmer hauled to the elevator he would be compelled to pay a tax of 25 cents of which 10 cents would go towards the payment of salaries of inspectors and the cost of maintaining grading stations while only six cents
would be devoted to the building of terminal elevators. In other words to accomplish the same result aimed at by Senate Bill No. 84, the North Dakota grain grower must pay four times as much under Senate Bill No.
314, and while under the former act
his burden would have been shared by the merchant, the banker, the railroad, the public utilities and the city property owners, under the grain grading act, the grain grower goes it alone.

Five High

Join Colors

Party of Ten Left Last Night for Minneapolis, Thence to Great Lakes Station

Bismarck sent another quota to the front last night. Several hundred gathered at the Northern Pacific station and bade the boys a farewell.
Five of the ten were students from Bismarck high school being Carl A.
Munson, Myron B. Skeels, John L.
Larson, A. M. Bacon and Jewell A.
Flow.

"It looked mighty tough to me to see those high school students leave their studies to answer the call of their country," stated an officer of Company "A" after the train had left the station.
Other Bismarck men to join were Raymond Adams, Clarence Fickering, Burton S. Clerk and Leslie V. Spohn.
The tenth man was Jonathan V. Overton of New Leipzig, N. D.
The men were enlisted at the local navy recruiting office Wednesday and were sent to Minneapolis. From there they will go to the Great Lakes Training station.

CALDWELL HIRED MAN CONFESSES
KILLING COUPLE

Complaint of Murder in First Degree to Be Filed By State's Attorney Burgeson

MAY BE TRIED AT THE ESTATE WORTH $100,000.
(Special to Tribune.)

Dickinson, N. D., May 3.—The friends of "J. C. R." who have been preparing an appeal are now going to wait and see what disposition is made of the property by the will before taking further action.

The bodies of the Caldwelles will be taken to Chicago by a brother-in-law, Dr. Lowell, who is here.
The Caldwell estate is estimated to be worth $100,000, composed of about 6,000 acres of land and stock.

Casey and Burgeson, attorneys for "J. C. R." when seen by a Tribune representative, said that the claimant's interests will be protected.
(Special to Tribune.)
Dickinson, N. D., May 3.—Death
will not rob Mike Chamak from serving probably a life term in the state penitentiary.

Weak from the self-inflicted wound
from the shot which he fired into his body as his companion for the slay-ing of James H. Caldwell and wife near Taylor, Monday, April 30, Mike Chamak has confessed to the dual tragedy and has asked to be taken before the district court that sentence might be passed.

First Degree Murder.
State's Attorney Burgeson questioned Chamak carefully and finally got the confession. A complaint charging murder in the first degree
will be filed against him.
Reports from the bedside are to the effect that Chamak will be able to be removed to the Stark county jail within a week or two, the bullet just grazing the left lung and not penetrating it. The wound is not so serious as first anticipated.

May Be Tried This Term.
Doctors attending the patient, who is under guard at St. Joseph's hospital here, say that because of his recovery more than favorable. The May term of district court for Stark county is called for May 15 and if Chamak recovers sufficiently by that time he will be taken before the court at that time.

Funeral Arrangements Delayed.
Funeral arrangements for the bodies of the victims are being delayed
until relatives from Chicago arrive.
James H. Caldwell's mother and a sister are still residing there. Dr.
Lowell, a brother-in-law of the rancher, is expected to arrive in this city today.

Chamak's assertion that he believed
"J. C. R." "the man of mystery," was in reality Caldwell's son, despite the fact that Caldwell had just recently successfully defended himself against
J. C. R.'s claim in the district court, really brought on the fatal combat,
Chamak claims.

NO PRIVATE CROP

St. Paul, May 3.—John English, one

It was said it was decided to abandon private crop reports during the coming season.

CO-OPERATION OF STATES IN FOOD
PROBLEM ASKED

Definite Plan to Be Worked Out
by Council of National Defense at Once

DANGERS OF UNDER

Secretary Daniels Asks Aid in Recruiting Navy Personnel
Up to 150,000

Washington, May 3.—The federal government today took into its consideration governors and other state representatives here for a national defense conference and outlined the problems the nation faces in making war on Germany. Cabinet heads explained the situation and asked aid
in putting into effect the government's war measures.

At a second conference today, the Council of National Defense will present a definite program to the states
for co-ordinating their work in carrying out military and economic plans.
President Wilson received the delegates today at the white house and argued that the states draw all energies and efforts together into common action.

Discuss Submarines and Food.
The submarine situation was brought sharply to the front when the governors gathered at the state, war
and navy building, and heard Secretary Lane and Daniels picture the dangers that beset the country in the German undersea war. Secretary
Baker and other war department officials explained the new army bill, and said that the success of the war army
meets with the states had depended on their co-operation. At a later meeting Secretary of Labor Wilson and agriculture department officials discussed food problems and labor
needs and their relation to success.
Tomorrow Secretary Redfield will put before them commercial conditions.

Lane Predicts Long War.
Secretary Lane advised the government to let their people know the government is preparing for a long war
and that every resource of the country must be developed to its utmost
if the United States hopes to win.
Germany, he declared, is putting up
the greatest fight of history and fighting on the defensive will be hard to defeat.

Secretary Daniels asked the aid of the states in recruiting the naval personnel to 150,000 after the new naval bill is passed.
Plans for the new army were outlined by Secretary Baker. No forecast, he said, is possible concerning the length of the war and prudence directs the country to enter on it as if it would be long.

Baker Favors Home Guard Units.
Mr. Baker defined the war department's policy concerning home guard units and said they would be encouraged. The department, he said, desired to preserve the identity of the national guard and hoped to attach their regimental designation to the units from which they come. He deplored the prejudice against conscription and asked the governors to do what they could to overcome it.
Adjutant General McCain and Judge Advocate General Crowder of the army told how the selective draft would be made, and the purpose of the officers' training camps.

Factory Men for Farm Labor.
Food and labor questions occupied
the entire time of an afternoon meeting. Secretary Wilson told what the labor department was doing to find men for the farm and put forward a plan for drawing men from the factories to do farm work during harvest time. Industrial establishments, he said, plan to shut down for repairs
when crops are to be harvested and release a vast army of men for the work.

Conscription of labor for farm work or any industrial work never will be supported in the United States, the secretary said, as long as the farms and industries were in private hands
and operated for profit.

Increased Spring Acreage.
Food problems will be taken up again tomorrow. Discussion today showed a largely increased acreage of spring crops throughout the country,
but a prospect of labor shortage in many states. Department of agriculture officials said crops could not be too large, as the allies for the next two years would take every spare bushel of grain this country can furnish and still go hungry.

Trial of Franz Rintelen to Disclose Scope of Teutonic Activity in United States

New York, May 3.—When the trial
was resumed here today of Captain Franz Rintelen, so-called "master spy"
of the German government, and seven Americans charged with attempting to disrupt the munitions traffic with the Entente allies by fomenting strikes and lockouts, Rintelen was ready his counsel said, to tell everything he knew of the alleged conspiracy. The outstanding features of the testimony against the accused men, all of which was given by George Plochman, treasurer of the trans-Atlantic trust company, are these:

Rintelen shortly after he arrived in this country from Germany in April 1915, deposited $500,000 with the trans-Atlantic trust company here and within four months had disbursed all but $45,000.

That more than $18,000 was paid to David Lamar, called "the wolf of Wall street," who the government charges, acted as Rintelen's chief agent in financing plots.

The Rintelen instructed George Plochman as treasurer of the trust company "to cash his checks irrespective of who presented them."
A resolution adopted at a meeting of Labor's national peace council, of which former Congressman Frank Buchanan and H. Robert Fowler of Illinois and others of the defendants are said to have been organizers called upon affiliated labor organizations to appropriate money for the support of workmen striking for the purpose of "paralyzing the private arms and munitions traffic in this country."

GERMAN SUBS
ARE RAVAGING
THE NATIONS

Last Week's Submarine Toll Estimated at 400,000 Tons by Washington Officials

SHIP CONTROL BILL TO CONGRESS NEXT WEEK

Washington, May 3.—While members of the entente mission share the alarm of American officials at the growing inroad of the submarine menace, they do not regard the situation as in any sense fatal. It means, in their view, a great period of self-denial,
but they do not credit any opinion that it is to lead to starvation
or the loss of the war.

Washington, May 3.—The enormous inroads on the world's shipping made by German submarines within the last weeks have brought to American government officials a new realization of the disaster that faces the United States and the allies if the undersea warfare is not checked.
Governors and state representatives
here today for a national defense conference, will take home to their people
a message from the government emphasizing the menace to America and urging that there must be the fullest co-ordination by the states in war preparation if Germany is to be defeated.

U-BOATS RAVAGING NATIONS.
Secretary Lane said the conference that the great destruction of ships was threatening the existence of Great Britain and France and menacing the United States. No one, he said, knew the exact number of ships lost recently, but estimates put last week's submarine toll at 400,000 tons. Later he explained that this estimate probably was too high.

Secretary Lansing, in a statement
during the day, declared the seriousness of the submarine situation could not be exaggerated and that it was time the country awoke to the true facts. Reports to the state department give a total of 80 vessels lost in one week, figures much higher than any contained in recent British announcements. All of the members of the British mission agree the situation is critical and that the combined shipbuilding facilities of the world can meet the peril only if their output is increased tremendously.

ENORMOUS INCREASE IN LOSS.
Chairman Denman of the shipping board, said estimates had reached the

BRITISH LAUNCH
NEW OFFENSIVE
ON WEST FRONT

Meagre Reports Show Allies Are Making Satisfactory Progress Against Teutons

GERMANS DELIVER MANY STRONG COUNTER ATTACKS

Activity of Entente Air New One of Spectacular Features of Engagement

(By Associated Press.)
New breaches in the already badly
battered German line on the Arras battlefield are being made by the British in a heavy assault launched along a twelve mile front today.
Striking south of Lens on the Ache-ville-Vimy road, General Haig's troops drove at the Germans all along the line as far south as Croiselles on the Senese river, eight and a half miles southeast of Arras. Virtually the whole front of the attack, the beginning of the Arras offensive on April 9, was thus under assault by the British infantry.

Capture Strong Positions.
The attack came at a moment
when it seemed that a deadlock had been reached, for a time at least, between the two forces because of the heavy reserve infantry that the Germans had brought up. The official capture speaks positively telling of the capture of strong German positions.
From Arras, captured last week in the drive north of the Scarpe, which broke into the Oppy line, progress has been made near Fresnoy, marking a deeper cut into the Oppy line.

Evacuation of Oppy.
This operation seems likely to force the speedy evacuation by the Germans of the town of Oppy, to which they have been desperately clinging.

South of the Arras-Cambrai road,
the Germans have been driven back from the region of Heintz south of Guemappe in the direction of Che-rines. Occupation of Cherines by the British would mark an advance of considerably more than a mile.

Give Germans No Rest.
While not pushing ahead on any wide front, the French along the Aisne in the Champagne are giving the Germans no rest, employing their artillery vigorously and taking a section of the enemy line here and there
last night on the hills east of Mont Haut, where a strong German position was reduced and a garrison of more than 200 men captured. German counter attacks in the region failed.
There may be a significance in the reports of activity which are coming from the Verdun sector and the lines to the southeast of it.

British Headquarters in France, via London, Staff Correspondent of the American Press, May 3.—Another of the continuing British attacks was launched this morning. Hard fighting is in progress under a warm spring sun, and the battle lines are enveloped in clouds of dust.

Progress Made.
Reports from the battle fronts are as yet meagre, but it appears that satisfactory progress is being made.
The attack was on a wide front. At Bullecourt the British took another bite off the Hindenburg line.
The Germans had delivered strong counter attacks at several places, especially at Gavrelle and at Loos. At all points, attacked and counter attacked, the fighting is continuing.

Air Men Active.
The British air men are continuing their relentless efforts at day and night. Within three days they have accounted for 55 enemy machines, and have carried out many enterprises behind the German lines. The German soldiers plainly dislike the continued presence of the British air men, for many unposted letters captured during the infantry attack dwell on the uneasiness the machines cause. One man wrote:

"The air activity is very great. The English will soon be taking the very caps off our heads."

The daring of the British aviators
in flying so low in the enemy country is one of the phases of latter day
air activity.

SURVIVORS OF VACUUM
SUFFER FROM EXPOSURE

London, May 3.—Captain S. S. Harris, and eight other survivors of the American tanker steamship Vacuum, sunk by a German submarine, were
at an unnamed port suffering severely from exhaustion and exposure.
Lieutenant Thomas, U. S. N., who was in command of the gun crew
on the Vacuum died of exposure in the captain's boat Monday morning.
His body was buried at sea. The captain's boat was overturned three times and had a terrible battle with the seas before they were picked up.

Drivers Are Hitting Too Fast 3
Face On Streets, Says New Police Head

Chief of Police Chris Martinson has issued a warning to the autoists
that they must reduce their speed
while traveling in the city limits.
Traffic regulations in regard to speed
and license tags are being violated
every day, says the chief, who threatens to make arrests unless the city ordinances and the state laws are obeyed.

The chief stood on the corner of Broadway and Third street last night
and counted 10 cars which were exceeding the speed limit. He states that drivers are also careless in "cutting" corners. A little co-operation with the chief now will prevent accidents later, as the streets of the city
are beginning to be crowded with machines.

NO SHORTAGE OF FOOD FACING
UNITED STATES

Senators Thomas and Borah Lead Attack on Food Speculators
in Floor Debate

NATION WOULD HAVE SURPLUS OF WHEAT

Washington, May 3.—The rising sentiment in congress for legislation to meet the nation's food problems broke out in the senate yesterday in a debate that started over the high price of seals, but developed into denunciations of food speculators with predictions that the best way to deal with them was to string them to lamp posts
or put behind prison doors and bars.
Senators from farming states denied that there is any real shortage of staple foods in the United States. Senator John Sharp Williams declared there had been a hysteria throughout the country and that the cause of high prices was largely psychological. He said he believed the German corruption fund recently unearthed in a federal court in New York may have been responsible for the hysteria.

FOOD SHORTAGE A MYTH.
Word should go straight out from the senate, Senator Williams said, that there is no shortage of food. Senators Nelson and McCumber agreed that there is no reason to fear a shortage.

The attack on the speculators was led by Senators Thomas and Borah. The Colorado senator declared they were the real enemies of the nation, expressed the hope that congress would not adjourn without legislation that would remedy the evil, and said the lamp posts is the thing to cure such speculation. Before the debate turned to other things, Senator Thomas introduced an amendment to the espionage bill empowering the president by proclamation to suspend during the war the operation of boards of trade and chambers of commerce which deal in futures. He had it sent to the table for later consideration.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.
Senator Borah predicted a world
famine if the war lasts two years, and if extraordinary and sustained efforts are not made here to meet the food problems. He attacked the packers, declaring they made enormous profits
and sold speculation and monopoly in foodstuffs made millions for those who were responsible and made "peons of the people." He favored conscription of food and government possession of the packing companies. Food speculation, he said, would not be ended until the speculators "are put in stripes
behind the bars."

Senator Nelson suggested that if
"some of the statesmen concerned about this situation" would go to Minnesota and assure the farmer of good climatic conditions, the wheat crop there would take care of itself.

Senator McCumber said the nation
should have a wheat surplus this year
of more than 200,000,000 bushels after feeding itself and providing for seeding.

paring to replace men employees entering the military service by women

It is not contemplated to employ women in the trades, but they will be used for clerical and office work
and other light classes of employment.

Pro-German Minister in South American Republic Presents
His Resignation

JAPAN MAY NOT ALLOW NEIGHBOR TO ENTER WAR

Havoc Wrought Among Norwegian Merchantmen By Sub

Aroused Indignation.
(By Associated Press.)
Brazil has drawn one step nearer to war with Germany and today is one of three countries harboring on the brink of the maelstrom. Norway and China are the other countries which may shortly be added to the list of Germany's foes.

Muller Resigns.
Two events have happened in Brazil which may easily form the impetus to the last remaining bit on the road to war. Dr. Lauro Muller, Brazilian foreign minister, has tendered his resignation on the eve of today
set for the Brazilian congress to decide whether the public shall draw its sword. Dr. Muller has been persistently reported as, if not actually pro-German, at least an opponent of hostilities with Germany. His resignation coincides with an order by President Braz returning the dismissed German minister. The order was issued on receipt of news that the Brazilian minister had been refused permission to leave Germany.

Norway May Enter War.
The possibility of Norway's entrance into the ranks of the Allies is based on the havoc wrought among the Norwegian merchant marine by German submarines. Norway has suffered so heavily from the ravages of the U-boat that her shipping is in danger of complete destruction. The biterness of the Norwegians is growing rapidly, and many voices are insisting that she is "no better off than if she were a belligerent."

Unrest in China.
All reports from China agree that the advocates of war are increasing in Pekin but apparently the President is reluctant to take the fateful step.
It has been reported that Japan is unwilling that China should enter the struggle, but the Japan foreign office has officially denied this.

Conflicting Reports.
In the meantime, the situation in Europe remains obscure through conflicting reports, and the extraordinary efforts of the censors, especially in the realm of the Central Powers.
The only definite fact in regard to conditions in Germany is that a political crisis exists, and that the an-tagonism between the parties has blazed out with a violence unknown
since the beginning of the war.

Chancellor Von Bethmann Hollweg
is the target for all shafts. There is no light whatever on the strike situation, and no reliable news from Austria of any kind.
The British continued to make headway in Mesopotamia but this is offset by reports of a Russian retreat in the Caucasian.

Whether the annual state convention of the Elks will be held in Bis-

The Bismarck lodge has received word from the lodge at Jamestown

conservation and patriotic reasons.

William O'Hara, president of the wired that meetings be called for the Word from Fargo late this after-

St. Paul, Minn., May 3. Face to face with his accusers in Chief of Police O'Connor's office yesterday afternoon, Frank J. Dunn, suspected of complicity in the murder of his wife, Mrs. Alice McQuillan Dunn, was forced to listen while the two Montana ranchers told in detail the story of how more than a year ago he plotted with them to slay her and her father, J. F. McQuillan.

MANY CHARGES MADE
Confronted by County Attorney O'Brien, Chief of Police O'Connor, Detectives Dawson and Lavalle and his two alleged conspirators, Dunn heard the ranchers assert he offered them $10,000 to murder his wife; that he asked them to "get" her father; that he continued to demand the murder plot so her death should be certain and that he framed an alibi for himself that he considered would be airtight.

DUNN APPEARS DEJECTED
Haggard and dejected, clinging to the arms of his chair and feverishly clasping and unclasping his hands, avoiding the eyes of the men in the circle about him, struggling, it appeared, to keep back his emotions, Dunn silently listened while the ranchers told their story, police say.

TELL OF GETTING MONEY
"And then we got him for $10,000; $1,000 at first, $4,000 when we came to St. Paul and then $500 to kill his wife," said one rancher, facing Dunn. "It is true, Dunn, and you know it," County Attorney O'Brien said, turning on the accused man quickly.

DUNN IS SILENT
But Dunn did not admit Mr. O'Brien's assertion. Instead, his head dropped and he maintained his silence. It was just a few minutes after 2 P. M. when Dunn was taken to Central police station from the county jail by Jailer Ed Quillman. Dunn was not handcuffed.

SEVERAL CONFERS
A few minutes later his attorney, Percy D. Godfrey, arrived, followed later by County Attorney O'Brien, the two Montanans and Detectives Dawson and Lavalle, who brought them to St. Paul to aid in solving the mystery.

Afternoon papers already were on the street and newshounds were shouting the news of Dunn's alleged wife-murder plot as he left the jail to hear the story told in detail.

KNEW HIS ACCUSERS
When the gathering was complete, Chief O'Connor signalled to Dunn's accusers and they stepped from behind a screen, greeting him.
Dunn admitted he knew them, saying that they had looked up some land there for him and that he paid $50 to them for their share for a ranch location. He said he has a receipt in full for the amount paid them.

STRAIN TELLS ON DUNN
As the men continued with their story, interpolated here and there with questions from one or another of those present or words of explanation by his attorney, the strain told more and more plainly on Dunn and more than once the revolting details of the scheme his accusers asserted was worked out by him, seemed on the point of overwhelming him.

PLOT LIKE FICTION
Rivalling fiction to its culmination in the search for the white-knuckled assassin of Mrs. Dunn, who was shot to death in her bed early last Thursday that deed, the plot was recounted before the man accused of its inception.
When the ranchers, with the detectives, left the chief's office by a side door going out at the rear of the building, Dunn found his voice.

"It's not true. It's not true," he said. Unbroken through all the questioning, he denied any part in the plot or knowledge of it.
Swaying slightly as he walked, Dunn emerged from the chief's office to be taken back to the county jail. Mr. Godfrey, his attorney, conferred with Chief O'Connor and County Attorney O'Brien. After these men had gone a court reporter, who had been concealed behind a screen, taking a report of the meeting, came out.
"I understand Mr. Dunn to say that the ranchers were two of three men who showed him about while he was there," Attorney Godfrey said afterward.
"From what he told me he did meet them here relative to the land deal, but he did not send for them. The deal did not go through and the two men returned."
"Dunn asserts as before that the story of the plot is a pure fabrication. Why these men should tell such a story is a mystery to him unless they have dangerous knowledge and wish to incriminate him to save themselves."

"NIGHT RIDERS" FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO GET OFFICER

Station Agent of Kulm, N. D., Indicted by Federal Grand Jury as Liquor Agent

(Tribune Special Service.)
Fargo, N. D., May 3.—The first indictment ever returned in a federal court in North Dakota against the agent of a railroad company, charging him with acting as the agent of a liquor house, was returned against G. W. Kollings, agent of the Soo railroad at Kulm, N. D., and reported to the federal court yesterday.
Kollings was arrested a week ago as a result of a visit to Kulm of officers of the North Dakota Enforcement league, an interesting incident being a "night riders" stunt in which a crowd of men, evidently bent upon vengeance upon F. L. Watkins, superintendent of the North Dakota Enforcement league, partially wrecked the business establishment of a man whom they believed was aiding the law enforcement authorities.

Every window in the Anderson Bros. store at Kulm, reports say, was smashed out, and a general wild session was indulged in—but Mr. Watkins rode safely through the storm, without injury and without coming in contact with the raiders.

BECKWITH TO ADDRESS SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS

Sunday School and Church Work to Feature Convention to Be Held in Fargo

(Special to Tribune.)
Fargo, N. D., May 3.—Country Sunday school and church work is to be featured at the approaching North Dakota Sunday school conventions to be held here June 23 to June 25. The northern part of Minnesota is to cooperate in this convention through arrangements which have been made with the Minnesota association. F. H. Beckwith, community betterment superintendent, a rural Sunday school expert of the New York Sunday School association, from Albany, N. Y., will be one of the principal speakers on the regular program and will also assist in conducting a rural work conference at the time of the convention. The report of the Williams county survey will also form an interesting part of the program.

THREE THOUSAND IN DICKINSON'S LOYALTY PARADE

Taylor Business Houses Closed and Sent Big Delegation to the "Queen City"

2,000 OLD GLORIES SOLD BY COMMITTEE

(Special to Tribune.)
Dickinson, N. D., May 3.—May 1 was Loyalty day in Dickinson and was fittingly observed by nearly every one.

At 1 o'clock all business houses of every kind were closed until the end of the ceremonies, and nearly every one turned out to participate. It is estimated that nearly three thousand persons were in the parade, including about a thousand school children.

Sold 2,000 Flags.
The only count that was kept of the crowd is through the flags disposed of by the Red Cross society. The committee of the day had two thousand flags on hand, and on the morning of the celebration the flags were all gone.

Parade Formation.
The parade formed on First street north, about a block from the city hall in the following order: A car with a lady dressed as Columbia, then the spirit of 1776, Uncle Sam, the Dickinson band, a car of the civil war veterans, Spanish American war veterans, and former members of Company K, city and county officials, and lodges of the city headed by the Elks.

Taylor Houses Close.
Special mention must be made of the Taylor people, who it seems, were nearly all at Dickinson. All business houses in Taylor were closed from 1 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and headed by their band, they very enthusiastically joined in the parade.

Gladstone was also represented here, and also a large delegation from Belfield.
When the procession arrived at the place of the speakers stand, the first number on the program was the salutation of the flag by the North side school children.

Big Men on Program.
Then the Southside school children sang "The Star Spangled Banner," this being followed by a very patriotic talk by the Hon. H. C. Berry, Rev. R. H. Craig then followed with another rousing patriotic talk, Senator L. A. Simpson, Judge W. C. Crawford and Rev. John Dignam followed in order, and each one delivered a very patriotic talk and put up a good many reasons why Company K should have more volunteers, and a larger membership.

Between the speeches the Dickinson male quartet sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and other patriotic songs. This quartet is composed of County Auditor J. L. Hughes, Deputy Superintendent of Schools O. H. Pippin, Cashier D. Mars and Wm. Noggle, who number among the best singers in the country.

The meeting ended with the playing "The Star Spangled Banner" by the combined Dickinson and Taylor bands.
Ideal weather was responsible for the large turnout of the Dickinson people.

Once Famous Lady Character of the State Passes Away

(Special to Tribune.)
Amidst N. D., May 3.—Cassie Parker is dead. Every cowboy and ranchman in the state will read of her death with bowed head. Cassie Parker was noted as being the pride of western North Dakota ranchmen, and was known as the girl who could take a place in the roundup and hold a firm seat in the saddle while riding the open range. She for years held the distinction—and carried it with her to the grave—of being the best woman rider in the west. Death occurred at Jamestown, where she was suddenly taken ill.

SCRANTON IS BOOMING FROM LIGNITE OUTPUT

Briquetting Plant to Be Increased to 13 Times Its Present Capacity, Say Officials

NEW LEASE OF LIFE

GRIPS DAKOTA TOWN

(Special to Tribune.)

Scranton, N. D., May 3.—The briquetting plant recently installed here for the purpose of briquetting lignite coal without the use of a binder, is to be increased this season to 13 times its present capacity and work on the additional 11 units will be begun within the next 30 days. The plant has been in operation but 10 days.

Emil Fernholz, the inventor of the machinery and president of the Fernholz Machinery company of Los Angeles, Cal., has given the finishing of this plant has personal supervision and in company with Charles A. Johnson, president of the Johnson Fuel company of Fairfax, S. D., owners of this plant, left here for Fairfax yesterday to convene with the members of the board of directors of the fuel company for the purpose of authorizing the building of the 11 additional units and to ratify the purchase of a steam shovel with which to strip the coal.

This city is taking on a new lease of life since the briquetting plant began operations. Seemingly in the space of a night's time, it has become one of the biggest and busiest mining points in this section of the northwest. Tons and tons of lignite briquettes are being shipped from here. The machine now turns out a minimum of 100 pound briquettes per minute.

TEACHERS DO NOT RUN THEIR SCHOOLS RIGHT

Odense Farmer to Be Examined by Insanity Board at Mandan Tomorrow

(Special to Tribune.)

Mandan, N. D., May 3.—Eugene Duffy, Odense farmer, was yesterday morning arraigned before County Judge Johnson for an insanity hearing.

Duffy believes he owns all the land in the country and thinks that school teachers do not run their schools right.

His main delusion is that he brews over the fact that a man should own all the land north of a section line when the description of the land says "N." It makes no difference to him whether it is the Northwest One Quarter of Section 10 or not so long as it has the letter "N" in the description he owns all land north of that piece of land.

In reality he owns 160 acres but he emphatically insists that he owns 800 acres. He has worried over the matter until he has become insane.

He also harbors the belief that all the school children are in trouble, and that they have not the proper kind of seats, believing that if they lean one certain way they will severely injure themselves.

Before being taken into the custody of the county officials he visited a number of schools and advised the teachers that the seats would have to be fixed differently.

Duffy has been a resident of Odense vicinity for a number of years. He is a single man and is

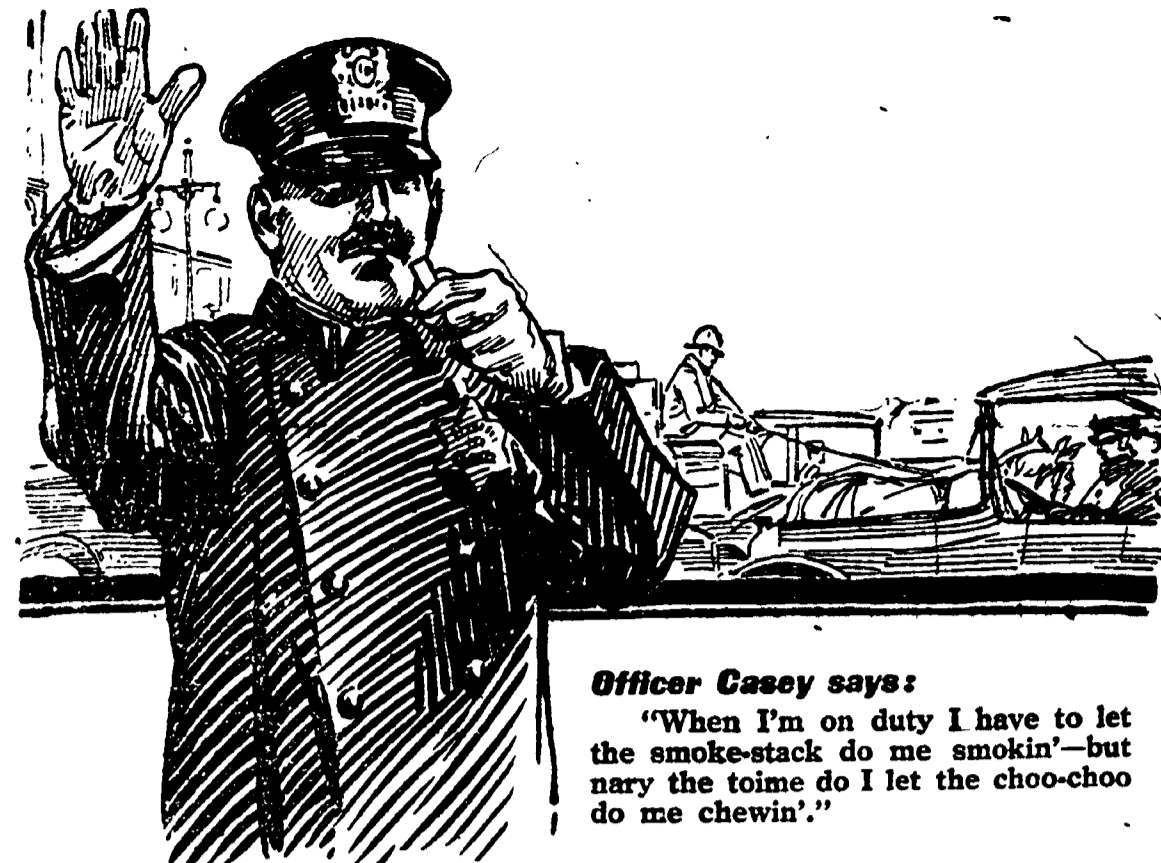

5,000,000 CORNS LIFTED RIGHT OFF

Try 2 Drops of Magic "Gets-It" There's a wonderful difference between getting rid of a corn now and the way they used to try to get rid of it only four or five years ago. "Gets-It" has revolutionized corn his-

Put 2 drops of "Gets-It" on that corn or callus tonight. That's all. The corn is doomed sure as sunrise. No pain, or trouble, or soreness. You do away once and for all with toe-bundling bandages, toe-eating salves and irresponsible what-nots. Try it—get surprised and lose a corn.

GO SLOWLY.

There is no burning necessity at this time of releasing indiscriminately school children for farm work. The older boys might well be freed from the compulsion of school attendance to assist on the farm, but our state legal department need not grow hysterical over the matter and put excessive burdens upon childhood.

But a real duty rests with the department of labor to secure North Dakota's quota of workers. Now is the time to lay plans for the fall harvest. Commissioner Hagan has an opportunity to serve this state greater than any time since his department was established.

BACK TO THE SOIL.

War is going to be the best promoter of the "Back to the Soil Movement." Growth of other industries in the last decade has obscured the fundamental principle that all wealth springs from the soil. Someone has well said:

"The soil is the cemetery of the ages and the resurrection of all life."

All nations at war are now aroused to the necessity of better soil cultivation as well as an increase in acreage. The city dwellers are plowing up every available vacant lot in feverish haste, anticipating a food shortage or prices beyond those with limited earning capacity.

While increased production is vital, in all this haste to sow more soil, the necessity of better cultivation should not be minimized. Care in seed selection and in soil preparation is more essential now than ever.

BLUES THE BOYS, ANYHOW!

One of the vice presidents of the Boy Scouts writes:

"The slogan of every Boy Scout in America now is, 'Every Scout to feed one soldier.' There are 2,000,000 gardens in America being cultivated by Boy Scouts."

This is a mighty fine thing, but you don't get the full significance of it until you go to figuring. Two million gardens! And it goes without the saying that most of this ground was not heretofore gardens, so that the bulk of the crops is positive increase. These gardens will hardly average less than 50x50 feet. If we figure on potatoes as the crop and allow an average of 200 pounds to the lot, which is very conservative, we have 400,000,000 pounds of potatoes as the harvest, or two tons of potatoes for every man of an army of 100,000 soldiers. Some potatoes. Yes, sir, and some boys!

VIRTUALLY A COALITION.

Only the supreme stupidity of our parliamentary rules and procedure prevent President Wilson from having the support he is entitled to in both branches. In spite of the antiquated system, the administration's war measure passed, but Republicans shouldered the load and by their action virtually gave the president the power of a coalition arrangement.

It is no time now to try to annex any party glory, for the Republicans who assumed the obligation that Champ Clark, Kitchin and Stone should have accepted, did so not as Republicans but as patriotic Americans.

Julius Kahn of California, a German by birth, managed the administration's bill for selective draft and put through the job with skill and precision. Democratic leaders by seniority stepped and opposed the measure. They shirked when the most important opportunity arose to display leadership and responsibility.

Ellihu Root referred so feelingly in a recent speech was in operation as potentially as though it had legal effect.

The Democratic leaders ran when they should have led.

Mr. Stone, Mr. Clark, Mr. Kitchin and Mr. Dent will go down into history as shining examples of a parliamentary system which permits the elevation of leaders whose sentiments are not in accord with the policies of the administration.

Out of this war may develop a more representative form of government in these United States.

RATIONAL ECONOMY.

Because the nation is in a state of war, it is not necessary to suspend business and dig ourselves into trenches of pessimism. The necessity for economy is indisputable, but carried to extreme limits untold harm will result.

Business will go on without serious interruption. Patriotism and public service are demanded of every citizen, but hysterical retrenchment is merely paving the way for disaster. The nation will gradually adjust itself to a state of war, but rational economy, not stupid cessation of industrial activity, is the prime necessity.

The nation is still prosperous, and if our war policies are carefully handled, there is no reason why the United States should not attend to its business with a cool head.

Live normally, buy normally, don't waste, but keep all industrial life active, for only in a full continuation of our industrial activities is this war to be won.

To economize on leather they're now making soles and counters of aluminum.

WITH THE EDITORS

Howard Elliott

(New York Post)

Mr. Howard Elliott, retires from his four years' presidency of the New Haven, not only with enhanced reputation as an executive, but also with the distinction of having rehabilitated the road in both its finances and its standing before the public. If it had been so fortunate as to have a man of his type managing it in the years just prior to his assuming the responsibility, it would not have fallen to the depths from which he has raised it. What calls for special praise is the way in which he met unexpected difficulties. The situation as everybody knew it was bad enough to frighten away any administrator but the boldness. The frequent terrible wrecks were only the most conspicuous sign of utter demoralization. Yet some of the heaviest burdens were created after Mr. Elliott took hold. Thus, the Massachusetts courts declared illegal a plan which guaranteed nearly seventy millions in cash to pay floating debts and make needed improvements. On the last day of 1914, the company had a balance of less than $200,000 above fixed charges. Two years later the balance was $5,500,000. The floating debt has been reduced from $60,000,000 to $43,000,000, but still, in Mr. Elliott's words, "hangs like a millstone about the neck of the company," and will continue to do so until the Legislatures of Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island harmonize the laws, affecting the road. But the chief test of Mr. Elliott's success is the new way in which the road is spoken of by the public.

READERS' COLUMN

THIRD ARTICLE

Medora, N. D.

May 3, 1917.

Editor of Tribune:

In the present article we will tell how some kings governed, and a little of their private character. Its true history should be well known to every high school boy or girl.

We will commence with the bastard son of the shopkeepers daughter, known in history as "William the Conqueror," who, without just cause, made war upon Saxon England; defeated Harold at the battle of Hastings, where the latter was killed, when William became King by the right of conquest, as robbers, which ever you choose to call robbery. He at once commenced to give the land from the owners and give it to his fellow robbers. His rule in England was most cruel. To make a private hunting ground he removed hundreds of poor families from their simple homes, and allowed them to starve.

His descendants were little better. Some two hundred years afterwards, one of whom, Edward made war on France, which continued for one hundred years. For what you will ask? To see who would be king of that country.

Follow the line down to almost our own time, and it will be found that they were all tyrants. Henry the Eighth was one of the most detestable of men who ever disgraced the earth. It is a custom of Christians to call Nero "A Brute." In our opinion he was a saint compared to Henry the Eighth. Charles the First was another tyrant whose head was removed by the Parliament.

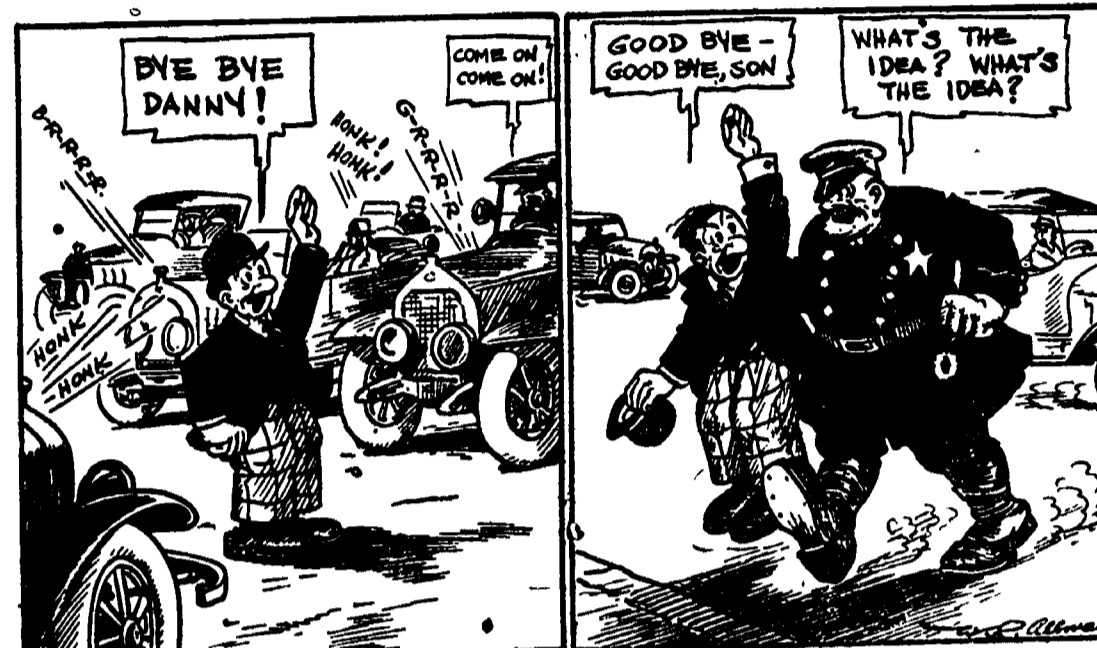

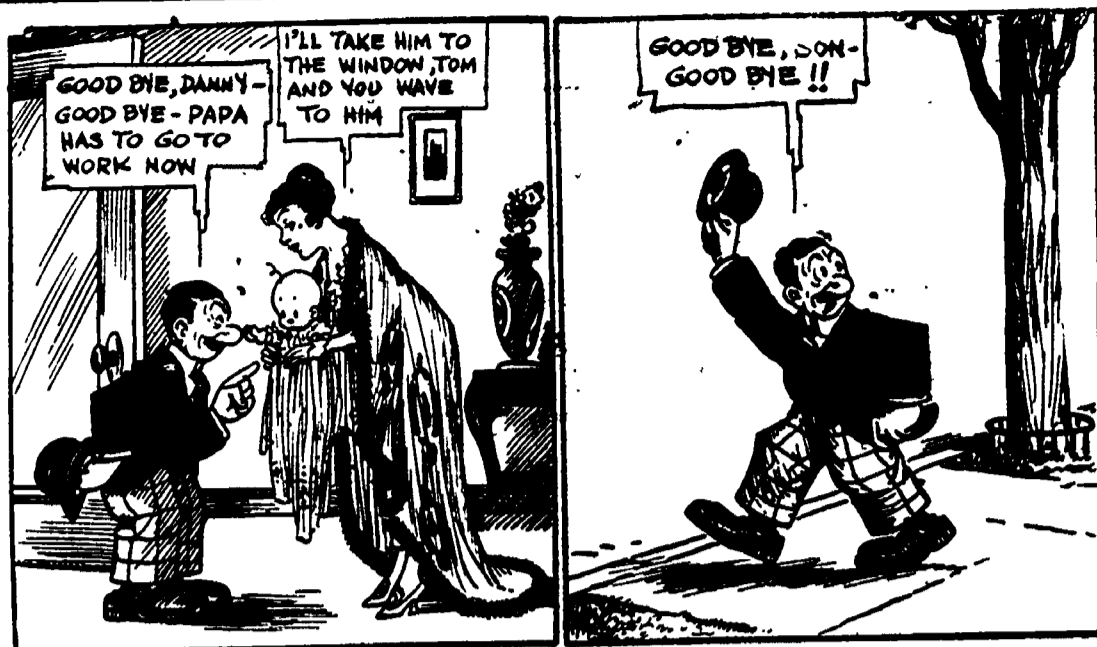

Cromwell established a commonwealth; a government so strong that it was respected all over Europe; but on his death the Nobility brought back Charles the Second. Remember the nobles did this; the common people had nothing to say, as to whom should govern them. (Neither have they to day in Germany.)

During the reign of this king his life and court was a constant debauch; his profligates were openly kept and some of them granted titles of nobility; if such a thing was possible.

On the death of Ann, and this was only two hundred years ago, the nobles wanted another king. The stock being scarce at home they went to Hanover and brought George the First, a drunken brute, who when a prince had married the beautiful Sophia Dorothea, and treated her like all brute treat wives. She being in want of a good husband, she was forced to marry him. She was a German, and she was a Protestant, and she was a

Your Own Garden

SPECIAL CROPS YOU CAN GROW.

BY A GARDENER.

You will find it advantageous to grow small quantities of certain specialties which will add to the attractiveness of your garden. Among these are: mustard greens, okra or gumbo, mustard greens, and parsley.

Soups, stews, and gravies may be improved by a little okra. Gumbo soup can become a meal, almost by itself. Cut into slices and spread alternately with rice and tomatoes in a casserole, with butter, in which curry powder and salt has been mixed. Baked three hours, it is an appetizing dish.

The young pods of this plant are the part used. The best pods are grown on young plants, but if the pods are removed before they are allowed to ripen, the plants will continue to produce them until killed by frost.

The seeds of okra should be sown in the open about the middle of May or may be started in berry boxes in the house before then.

A row 30 feet long will do for the average family. The seed should be planted an inch deep and sown about two or three inches apart. When plants are about two inches tall thin them to about a foot and a half apart, letting the healthiest plants stand. The pods may be gathered the day after blossoms fall. The pods are best when about an inch long.

Mustard greens may be sown thickly and the leaves are soon ready for picking. Sow again in late summer for fall greens.

Parsley, too, may be sown thickly, in rows or scattered broadcast. This may be grown between rows of late vegetables and may follow early vegetables for a late crop.

Swiss chard may be sown early in May in rows three feet apart, thin to 14 to 18 inches. Leaves and stalks may be boiled like spinach or the stalks may be used alone, when they are about 14 inches tall.

While her brute of a husband took his prostitutes to England and lived with them openly, at the expense of the State; making one of them Countess of Darlington, and another Duchess of Kendal.

George the Second was little better. George the Third became insane, and the only good that can be said of him is that by his pique he lost the United States, where a government of men and by men, was for the first time, established on earth.

George the Fourth was a libertine and debauchee, who, while Prince of Wales squandered an income of from two to six hundred thousand dollars a year in debaucheries, and seducing females. The kings of the earth! What wretches many of them have been and are today.

You will be asking, "what became of King George?" Well the Countess of Platen, an old maid and looking around, had him murdered, and as he was dying stamped with her foot on his mouth. Fine thing, nobility.

MANDAN NEWS

Fort Rice Man Here—J. W. Patterson of Fort Rice was in Mandan yesterday afternoon looking after business matters.

Just Fun

Too Far, Down.
 "Begin at the bottom and work up," counseled the eminent divine as he was addressing a congregation of young men. "That is the only way. There is no exception."
 "I cannot begin at the bottom, sir," said a young man whose hands bore the marks of honest toil.
 "And why not?" demanded the preacher.
 "I am a well digger," he replied respectfully.—Puck.

In the Wrong, California.
 A drummer, being very fond of corn on the cob, ate after ear. Finally, the pretty waitress, after she'd brought him his 14th or 15th ear, she said, tartly:
 "Don't you think you would save half a dollar or so a day if you boarded at a livery stable?"

The Best Line.
 "I propose," said the ambitious young man, "to gin the earth."
 "Oh," she innocently exclaimed, "why do you begin on such a big thing?"
 But he just sat there and twirled his hat, the foolish fellow.—Puck.

Revised Version.
 Billy Jones wrote on the blackboard, "Billy Jones can hug the girls better than anybody in the school." The teacher seeing it, called him up.
 "William, did you write that?" she said.

Billy admitted that he did, and she told him that he could remain thirty minutes after school was dismissed. The children waited for Billy to come out, when they began to guff him.

"Got a lickin' didn't you?"
 "No," said Billy.
 "Get jawed?"
 "No."
 "What did you do?" they asked.
 "Shan't tell," said B.H., "but it pays to advertise."—Puck.

Sleep!

REGULAR HOURS
 FOR SLEEPING
 KEEP BABY WELL

Healthy babies sleep nearly all of the time during the first month or so of life.

The baby sleeps less as it grows older. After a few weeks it learns to sleep longer at night and less in daytime. Until the end of the first year the baby should sleep 15 to 18 hours out of the 24. It should not be disturbed except at nursing time.

With proper training the baby can learn to sleep at about the same time each day. Training allows the mother more time for her housework and what is more important allows the baby to have better care.

If started right the baby will take a long sleep in the morning, stay awake several hours during the middle of the day and take another nap in the early afternoon.

High Cost of Reform

One of the chief planks of the Non-partisan League campaign was economy in government, reduced taxation and a hastening of the millennium. The Tribune is not informed whether Attorney General Langer subscribed to the platform when he secured the endorsement, but he went up and down the state on a platform that promised retrenchment and conservation of the public dollar.

In order that the taxpayers may know just what the various reform departments untouched almost by Governor Frazier's vetoes are costing, The Tribune proposes from time to time to discuss this phase of our Non-partisan regime.

We approach the subject without malice and our facts are gathered from state records which can be verified. Members of the Non-partisan

Tool Shortage Menace To Food Production

Chicago, May 3.—Members of the special committee recently appointed by the National Implement and Vehicle association to co-operate with the federal government to increase this country's food production, met here and issued a statement calling attention to the fact that the success of the campaign will be seriously jeopardized because of a shortage of farm implements due to the inability of implement manufacturers to obtain but 75 per cent of the sheet steel needed to supply the normal demand of the farmers this year.

It is pointed out that farm implement manufacturers have practically no stock on hand, and that thousands of farmers in recent years have allowed their equipment to deteriorate to such an extent that many implements cannot be used this year without repairs.

The committee issued a statement which read in part:

"Reports from all parts of the country show that a great shortage in farm implements prevails right now. All factories making tractor plows are unable to meet the requirements of their trade. The corn acreage has been decreased by the shortage of plows, the tools necessary to plant corn in fall wheat fields. A shortage of regular corn planters is also imminent. All this is occasioned by inability to secure raw material, particularly iron and steel products."

"The production of implements has been less than normal since 1913. During this period farmers have not purchased to fully provide for their needs. Tools in the hands of farmers are more nearly worn out than ever before. Dealers and manufacturers' stocks are reduced to a low ebb. The increased food requirements means increased acreage and more than the normal supply of implements is necessary if the situation is met. This condition is accentuated by a shortage of labor on the farms and the necessity for increasing the proportion done with machinery."

Volume of Business.
 "The volume of business of the implement companies in the number of implements sold in 1916 was considerably less than in 1915. Implement manufacturers are making every endeavor to increase their production to meet the farmers' needs, but are actually faced with a decreased production because of their inability to get the material."

"Steel companies after a conference with officials at Washington at first allotted to the implement industry only 50 per cent of their requirements of sheet steel for 1918. After serious objection and conference on the part of implement manufacturers, the allotment was increased to 75 per cent."

"It frequently happens that there is only a week during which corn planting can be successfully done. In seasons of this character every available tool is used. The present season is of this type because of its lateness and the corn acreage this spring will be reduced because of the shortage of tools."

part of implement manufacturers with the department of commerce and agriculture this allotment has been increased 25 per cent. This means that the implement manufacturers are only able in the future to make 75 per cent of the normal production of machines in which sheet steel is a considerable item, such as harvesters and binders, corn planters, grain elevators and etc.

100,000 Harvesters.
 "There are manufactured by seven different concerns and sold to farmers in this country yearly approximately 100,000 harvesters and binders. A harvester and binder averages to cut 50 acres of wheat a year. This decrease in supply would result in decreasing the farmers' harvesting ability 1,250,000 acres. Allowing for the acreage production indicated by the government in 1915 crop analysis of 16.9 bushels per acre, we should have a loss of 20,625,000 bushels of wheat."

80,000 Corn Planters.
 "There are 80,000 corn planters a year sold to farmers in the United States. A corn planter averages to plant forty acres a year. Reducing this output 25 per cent means a reduction of 800,000 acres planted, which according to government report of production for 1915 of 28.2 bushels per acre, would mean a loss of 22,560,000 bushels of corn."

"Steel manufacturers, in limiting the supplies of materials for implement concerns, are proceeding upon the theory that if the farmer will repair his worn out tools and the dealers and manufacturers exhaust their stocks, implement manufacturers can supply the farmer if they only operate at 50 to 75 per cent of their normal production. This conclusion unless modified will result in a serious food shortage. Five years ago there was an overproduction of implements. Since that time implement factories have been running at materially reduced speed and stocks of finished and raw materials have been cut to a minimum."

"It frequently happens that there is only a week during which corn planting can be successfully done. In seasons of this character every available tool is used. The present season is of this type because of its lateness and the corn acreage this spring will be reduced because of the shortage of tools."

Janterman; vice president, Mrs. A. M. Rend; treasurer, Mrs. Lee Nichols; secretary, Mrs. Ray Griffin.

UNCLE SAM'S ADVICE FOR BABIES Take Good Care of First Set of Teeth

By the end of the second year the baby should have his milk teeth complete and until the sixth or seventh year, when the permanent set will begin to appear, these teeth must serve all the purposes that the human set will serve later.

Since this is the time the child is learning to chew his food, a process necessary not only for proper digestion but for the strengthening and developing of his jaws and for the proper growth of the permanent teeth, it is important to keep the first teeth in the best possible working order.

The condition of the teeth is a fair index to the general health of the child. Until the child is old enough to use a tooth brush himself, the mother should wash his teeth every day; but as early as possible the child should learn to care for his own teeth.

If the teeth cannot conveniently be cleaned after each meal, the mouth may at least be rinsed. Children should be taught it is of special importance to wash the teeth and mouth after eating nuts, or any sweet, sticky, or pasty food. The teeth should be carefully cleaned at bedtime, since the fermentation of food particles left in the mouth, which leads to decay of the teeth, proceeds more rapidly at night, when the mouth is at rest.

The child should be taught to brush the teeth from the gum downward or upward toward the cutting edge. When the teeth are brushed crosswise, the tendency is to push whatever is on them into the cracks and crevices of the teeth or under the edges of the gums. The inner surfaces of the teeth should also be brushed up and down, and the gripping surfaces should be scrubbed in all directions; after scrubbing is finished the mouth should be thoroughly rinsed with warm water.

Some hard food like a stalk of celery or part of a ripe juicy apple eaten at the end of a meal scours the surface of the teeth and leaves a fresh clean taste in the mouth.

Children should be taken regularly to a good dentist once or twice a year after the first set of teeth is complete. If cavities appear they should be filled with soft fillings and each tooth should be saved as long as possible.

The health of the permanent set is largely dependent upon that of the first set.

FATHER GIVES VIEWS OF HIS PART REARING CHILD

Much is said about the mother but little about the father in the rearing of the child. Special mothers' clubs are formed in various parts of the country and special mothers' meetings held, but it is rarely there is any fathers' club or special fathers' meetings. An interesting account of the plans of a father appeared in a recent issue of the North Dakota Federation of Women's Club Bulletin. It follows:

"THE EXPECTANT FATHER"

"It is supposed that the father does not have great expectations too?"

"When my wife went down into the dark valley of the cruel kindness of birth and brought back to me the tiny creature who looks so strangely like me, I too, trod some bitter billies."

"Now that I am in truth an expectant father—expecting some unreasonably great things of this son of mine—I fear, what principals may I discover for my guidance in dealing with him?"

"One thing that has always impressed me is the prevalence of my father in myself. Therefore, it is surely not unreasonable to think that the same will be true of my son. My own virtues, such as they are, I shall have to encourage in him; my own failings, how many, I shall have to combat."

"These little ones come to us so fresh from the steep shore of eternity, so unmarred by all the compromises of earth, that we may well learn things anew through their clear eyes. What an enrichment of life has come to me! I have molded no nation's policies, made no ringing speeches but I have been true to the first duty of a good citizen—I have given the nation a good, clean lad."

"I have drawn up for myself a rough eight commandments."

"I brought this boy here with out consulting him. Therefore it is up to me to see that he gets a fair start. Generally speaking, a fair start is one 10 per cent better than you had yourself."

THE AMERICAN DENTIST IS FAMOUS THE WORLD OVER

In the history of the dental profession a majority of the outstanding figures are Americans. Most of the important discoveries, including anaesthesia, have originated in this country.

Since dentistry became a science, The S. S. White Dental Manufacturing Company, the best known and most reliable dental manufacturing house in the world, has been closely identified with its progress. Since 1844 The S. S. White Dental Manufacturing Company has continually hastened this progress by developing new tools, new materials and new techniques. Every year there come new inventions from the S. S. White laboratories.

Today the watchword of progressive dentistry is "prevention." Prevention starts with the home care of the teeth—the regular use of the tooth brush and a good dentifrice. Accordingly the wide resources of The S. S. White Dental Manufacturing Company have been turned to the preventive side of dentistry.

The result is a dentifrice formula which embodies the latest findings of dental science. S. S. White Tooth Paste is offered to dentists and to the public as a pure, non-medicated cleanser, pleasant to use and remarkably efficient. It is pure white in color and its basic ingredient is precipitated chalk of extra fine quality. It cannot scratch or mar the enamel and contains no chemicals which would irritate the delicate mucous membranes of the mouth or alter the secretion of the saliva.

The function of a dentifrice is to help the tooth brush remove food deposits

S. S. White Tooth Paste does this better than any other paste on the market.

What Fishermen Want to Know--Few Truths for Followers by Isaak Walton

The time is upon us when the followers of Isaak Walton are informed with the annual confusion of fisheries and a few suggestions to the novice will not be amiss.
Here are a few hunches which will save anglers wasted days and empty fish-baskets:
Don't hook the bait. It's dangerous. Don't waste your time spitting on the hook. A wiggling worm is better.
Don't cast with surface bait in deep water. Slip it over the weeds.
Don't bite on fancy bait made to catch the angler. Use one made for fish.
Don't use a five-gang layout on a rock bass. He ain't worth it.

Don't use shark tackle on trout. It makes 'em sore--they won't stand for it.
Don't fish in the middle of a river for small-mouth bass without a landing net. The bass will appreciate it. Don't throw rocks in a pool where you expect to catch trout. Sneak up on 'em.
Don't tie a string of fish to the boat and drown them. Be merciful.
Don't throw weed-cutting gangs in shallow water. Try the single hook or fly.
Don't forget bluegills on a fly rod are like 'tunge on a four-ounce hammer. Don't harpoon the unoffending mullet and sucker. Slip 'em a night-crawler.

Don't forget worms breed in beds of coffee grounds. Also that lots of water or a lawn bring them out at night.
Don't try to lift a twenty-pound cutfish up over a fifteen-foot bank on your fishing line. Get a boat and a sail.
Don't forget the lighter the tackle the more the fun on any kind of fish. Don't bait-cast from the same end of the boat as your punter. His eyes are valuable to him.
Don't take the little fish. Be a real sportsman--angle for their great-uncle.
Don't catch so many fish you can't use them. Don't figure it your last trip.
The fun of angling is not WHERE we catch the fish, but HOW.

YOUNGSTOWN FANS ARE STILL HOPEFUL

Youngstown, O., May 3.--Although Governor Cox has ruled that Les Darcy, the Australian middleweight, cannot box George Chip here May 19, the promoters are still hopeful that the contest will be decided.
A committee of business and professional men will call on the governor and attempt to convince him that there is no reason why Darcy should be barred from boxing in this state.

17-YEAR-OLD MAY BE BILLIARD CHAMPION

Chicago, May 3.--Ralph Greenleaf, the 17-year-old pocket billiard star, probably will be the next challenger for the championship now held by Frank Tolerski, of Syracuse, N. Y.
Greenleaf, whose home is in Mount Prospect, Ill., shows more promise, in the opinion of experts, than any other pocket billiard player who has broken into the game in years.

Navy's Real Heroes Work at Boilers, Says Lyon, Far From Excitement, Near to Perils

BY C. C. LYON.

The unsung heroes of a modern battleship are the hundreds of fellows who tend the furnaces and look after the machinery, down in the hold, far below the water line.
The "engineer force" is the real backbone of every sea fighting unit. When a super-dreadnaught like the Texas, on which I am serving, steams into port the upper decks take on gala attire. The band plays, flags are flying, and officers and blue-jackets have on their best clothes.
But the "engineer force" has no part in these festivities.
The ship must be kept moving whether the upper decks are frolicking or fighting, so down below the coal bunkers every man is at his station, shoveling coal, oiling, tending electrical switches, watching the water gauges or "polishing the brightwork."
The engine rooms are the most democratic part of a battleship.
Down there both officers and men wear "blue-jackets" or overalls, and the officer is distinguished by a gold band on his cap.
I took a "turn" in the engine rooms of the Texas.
I thought the work pretty hard. Shoveling coal is rather strenuous for a land lubber.
"Don't try to empty the coal bunkers," an officer admonished me the first day. "We don't expect as much work from a new man as we do from the seasoned fellows. Remember, the bunkers hold 2700 tons. Take things easy until you get hardened."
To get an idea as to how far down the boilers and engines are, one must imagine himself sliding into a cellar then going on down through four or five sub-cellar levels to the bottom of the water line to the bottom of the boat, and there are three decks from the top down to the water line.
There's no room on battleships for stairways. They use ladders, most of them straight up and down.
Below the water line, an orderly and I passed through one sub-deck after another, every one crammed with machinery.
"This," he pointed out, indicated some enormous vat, "is where we take in water, extract the salt and transform it into drinking water."
"Here's another fine thing, an ice manufacturing plant. How'd you like the ice cream we had for dinner yesterday?"
Of 1014 officers and enlisted men aboard the Texas, 239 are attached to the "engineer force."
For the most part, enlisted men who work below are older than those "on deck."
Most skilled mechanics work below, and their pay is so good they are quick to re-enlist.
The base pay of chief machinist mates is $77 a month, which is substantially increased for re-enlistments. Boiler-makers of the first-class receive a minimum of $72 a month, blacksmith of the first-class $53.
The guide pointed out a middle-aged man in the boiler room.
"That's Mike Cain," he said.
"If that fellow neglected his work the ship might blow up." He watches the water gauges and keeps the steam pressure at just the proper mark.
I drew Mike Cain into conversation. "What would all you fellows be doing during a real battle?" I asked.
"Unless they told us there was a fight we probably wouldn't know it," he said.
"Cain shrugged his shoulders. "You could count on every man down here staying at his post as long as there was a chance to get the ship ashore. If the worst came, we'd get out of the engine rooms in orderly fashion and take to the small boats."

Shifting Clock Ahead Would Save 17 Billion Hours, Time Enough to Build a Big Fleet

BY F. M. KERBY.

New York, May 3.--Sixteen billion, eight hundred and thirty million hours of daylight may be added to the available time of the people of the United States for preparedness.
This is what will happen if congress follows the lead taken by all the belligerent nations of Europe and enacts into law a measure introduced in the senate by Senator Calder of New York, and in the house by Representative Borland of Missouri, at the request of the daylight saving committee of New York.
The plan, as adopted in Europe and as proposed by the committee of which I am chairman, is, briefly, to turn the clock forward this spring and turn it back to normal time next fall, so that during the five summer months an extra hour of daylight may be automatically obtained for the whole hundred and ten million of our people," said Marcus M. Marks, president of the Borough of Manhattan and chairman of the New York daylight saving committee, to me today.
If placed in effect May 1 and continued to the end of September, a period of 153 days, it would mean 16,830,000,000 hours of additional daylight, figuring one hour for each man, woman and child in the United States each day.
This is enough time, if it could be utilized in such a way, figuring 1000 men each working eight hours a day for three years on each ship, Sundays and holidays included, to build 960 first line battleships, counting the extra hour as valuable to only half the population.
"What we want is to get the nation to begin its waking and working day an hour earlier in summer than in winter," said Marks.
"Won't the workingman object to this?"
"I prohibit any speaker saying a word against the American flag," said Chairman Miller at the meeting. No speaker did.

RED FLAG OF SOCIALISTS BARRED BY DULUTH POLICE

Duluth, Minn., May 3.--The Stars and Stripes replaced the red flag of Socialism in a parade of 4,000 Socialists in Duluth when the red emblem was barred from the line of march by the police.

Although a reserve force of twenty uniformed policemen, a double United States army provost guard, detectives and secret service men were reported mingling in the May day parade crowd, insurgents succeeded in destroying a recruiting sign of the United States navy standing in front of the post-office. The culprits escaped.
At the Socialist meeting later resolutions were adopted declaring for national prohibition for the period of the war.
"I prohibit any speaker saying a word against the American flag," said Chairman Miller at the meeting. No speaker did.

NEWSPAPERS FROM GERMANY REVEAL LITTLE NEWS

Berne, May 2.--After a quarantine of one week, the German newspapers today were again allowed to enter Switzerland. Serious labor disturbances have been one reason assigned, but the first papers to arrive gave no hint of any such state. On the contrary, the "Frankfurter Zeitung" reports from Essen that May 1 revealed the usual intense activity.

All the papers are notable for the number of articles they carry for demands for legislative action on franchise and other reforms for all parts of the Empire, Saxony, Baden, Hesse and Bavaria.
Such German newspapers as now permitted to reach Copenhagen, although evidently carefully selected for their absence of military news or any information regarding the strike movement, indicate that the campaign against Chancellor Von Bethmann Hollweg is again in full swing. The conservatives although insisting as usual that the other parties observe a political truce in the interest of the Fatherland, have adopted and published a set of resolutions carefully attacking the Chancellor and censuring the Government for weakness and vacillation on the peace question and in dealing with the strike agitation.

A Hamburg correspondent at Berlin says that dissatisfaction with the government's policy is drawing in all directions. The Socialist leaders, he continued, do not hesitate to explain and justify the latest strikes on the ground of delay in reforming the Prussian franchise.

Bird lovers say that while other species will feed easily from a board swung from a tree by ropes at its four corners, English sparrows will not alight upon it, not even for the sake of the prized food. This furnishes a hint that the other birds will appreciate, for the English sparrow is an unwelcome visitor at the tables of the native birds.—Minneapolis Journal. 4-13-1mo

DONE DRY BILL SCRAP OF PAPER IF RULING GOES

Attorney General Reverses Himself in Opinions, Making Temperance Act Nil

NOW YOU SEE IT AND NOW YOU DON'T, LANGER IDEA

The so-called "Done Dry" bill will make North Dakota a Sahara on July 1, and Dunsen's sanitarian has a perfect right to its emergency appropriation of $15,000 upon which it is now drawing, while State Auditor Kostitzky has $500 too much for traveling expenses, under one opinion recently handed down by Attorney General Langer.

Under another, State Auditor Kostitzky's appropriation for traveling expenses is good, but Dunsen has no emergency appropriation, and North Dakota has no done dry law, after July 1.

You pay your money and takes your choice.

Clerk Makes Appropriation.

House Bill 355 as introduced and passed by both houses made an emergency appropriation of $2,465 for the state auditor's office, to be used between March 1, 1917, and July 1, 1917. Among the items was $500 for traveling expenses. When the engrossed bill bobbed up after the close of the session it was found to have been altered by lead pencil to provide $1,000 instead of $500 for traveling expenses, and to permit the expenditure of the emergency appropriation between March 1, 1917, and March 1, 1918.

State Auditor Kostitzky, seeing an irregularity which might lose him his entire appropriation, was much exercised until the attorney general soothed his fears by handing down an opinion holding that it would be unlawful to go back of the engrossed bill, and that regarding the intent of the legislature, the engrossed bill must stand as its final voice in the matter.

Another Twist.

Then everything went along serenely for a few days until it was learned that through some shuffling of the cards, the emergency clause had not been attached to the bill making an appropriation of $15,000 for the Dunsen sanitarian to be available between the date of passage and July 1. It looked for a time as tho this defect might deprive the sanitarian of badly needed funds, but the opinion-factory on the third floor proved its versatility by immediately handing down a ruling that the legislative intent took precedence over the engrossed bill; that the journal of the house, in which the error was made, showed plainly that it had been the intent of the legislature to give the bill immediate effect, and that the appropriation should become available at once, regardless of the lack of a proper emergency clause.

And now comes House Bill 39, Bowman's done dry act which, as it appears in the engrossed bill, signed by the governor, absolutely prohibits the importation of intoxicating liquors, except by registered pharmacists. The senate journal record on this bill is very clear. It shows that the bill was amended there to permit the importation of so many quarts of whiskey, beer and wine each month for "personal use." The amendment carried by a big majority in the senate, and when the bill went back to the house for final action, the amendment was lost, not acted upon in any manner, and omitted from the engrossed bill.

The Legislative Intent.

If the attorney general is correct in his ruling on the Dunsen sanitarian bill, it must follow that the legislative intent, and not the engrossed bill, shall be considered as binding in the case of the done dry law. The intent of the senate was to permit the importation of liquors for "personal use." The senate never had an opportunity to reverse itself, nor was it consulted when the amendment was quietly dropped in engrossing the bill.

So to bibble or not to bibble after July 1 remains a moot question, providing the attorney general is not prepared with a third opinion, straddling the fence between the two directly opposite rulings which already have come from his office.

MANY TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF ROAD'S OFFER

Nearly 100,000 Acres Productive Land to Become Available for Growing Foodstuffs

Applications received by the Northern Pacific railway land department the first week following the notice that lands reserved for use of the operating department were to be placed at employees disposal for crop raising, indicate that general advantage is to be taken of President Harnford's offer. By the order he permits employees to raise foodstuffs without charge during the present crop season.

It is estimated that nearly 100,000 acres of productive land becomes available for growing foodstuffs. Besides lands along the 7,000 miles of right-of-way through Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, other properties not so classed may be tilled under the order.

Delegates to the national convention in Chicago are L. A. Corey of Minot, F. S. Thomas of Lisbon, R. Z. Bellow of Westhope, T. V. Carey of Fargo, Dr. E. F. Swarthout of Sykeston, and W. L. Burner of Glen Ullin.

GOVERNMENT MAY SEIZE PART OF FOOD SUPPLIES

Chicago, May 2.—Plans to seize at least part of the nation's food supply are already being seriously considered by the United States government.

This was admitted today by District Attorney C. F. Clynne, who said that in the last few days district attorneys from the Mississippi valley conferred in Chicago on means of taking over of food supplies. He declared any further information must be made known at Washington.

TEMPERATURES WILL BE LOW FOR FEW DAYS

April Coolest Month in Eight Years—Mean Reading Was 38 Degrees

Low temperatures for the next couple of days over North and South Dakota, Minnesota and northern Iowa are predicted by the government weather chief here. Wheat, it is said, will be benefited by the cool weather as it will be given a chance to stool. Corn planting and gardening will be delayed materially.

April was a warm month but the coolest since 1900. The mean temperature was 38 compared with 35 during the corresponding month in 1900. Last year the mean temperature for April was 51 degrees and the year preceding—that of 1915—52 degrees. Sunshine was 12 per cent. below the normal. There were but five clear days; eight partly cloudy and 17 cloudy.

Snowfall during the month amounted to six inches, four inches falling on April 16, one inch on April 10 and another inch on April 6. The total precipitation for the month was 1.57 inches, this being the greatest since 1912, records showing 2.80 for the corresponding month that year. The precipitation for April 1916 was .65 and in 1915, 1.04 inches.

The prevailing direction of the wind was from the east, the total movement being 7,056 miles with an average hourly velocity of 9.8 miles.

German Press Says System Is Failure

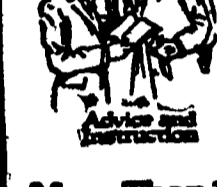

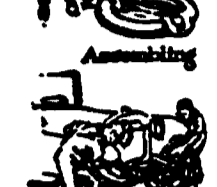

Amsterdam, via London, May 3.—The Hamburger Fremdenblatt, at the end of three column editorial, comes to the conclusion that the German political system is a failure and must be changed. The paper says:

"There is no use theorizing. There is something wrong with our governmental system as is clearly proved by Germany's political failures and in fact by the whole war. A fresh blood must be infused in the government."

The Fremdenblatt advocates the removal of the bureaucratic barriers in order to allow the parliament and government to work in closer touch.

The Berlin Tageblatt takes up the statement of the Koelnische Volks Zeitung that a Free Masons congress in Paris it was decided to instigate an anti-monarchical movement in Germany with the chief aim of dethroning the emperor. The Tageblatt says that leaders of German Free Masonry have informed it that they have absolutely nothing to do with such outgrowths of so-called international Free Masonry. They stand on a strictly national basis, are determinedly loyal to the emperor and empire, and the paper says do not concern themselves with political machinations.

PIONEER BISMARCK EDUCATOR HONORED BY ADOPTED STATE

Col. William T. Perkins, Former Superintendent of Schools, Heads Regents

Through R. D. Hoskins, former clerk of the supreme court, now sojourning in Seattle, comes a copy of the Post-Intelligencer which devotes more than a column to announcing the appointment of Col. William T. Perkins to the presidency of the Washington state university board of regents. Colonel Perkins, for years member of the board since January 1, 1914, and was reappointed two months later for a full six-year term, says the Post-Intelligencer. "He is president of the Northern Securities company, secretary of the Northern Cooperative & Development company, and the Alaska Midland Railroad company. He has been a resident of Seattle and Alaska since 1893, having been among those who joined the Klondike rush."

"Colonel Perkins is 59 years old, was born in Buffalo, N. Y., where he attended the public schools, and later attended the New Hampton Lutheran institution. He studied law in the office of former United States Senator William F. Frye of Maine, later in the law school of the University of Michigan, from which he graduated in 1884. He subsequently removed to Bismarck, N. D., where he was a member of the city council, school board and clerk of the school for a period of twelve years."

"Colonel Perkins was for ten years superintendent of schools of Burleigh county, N. D., and served as president of the North Dakota State Educational association. He was appointed a colonel on the staff of Gov. Andrew Burke of North Dakota in 1892. He was strongly backed for appointment for governor of Alaska to succeed Governor Brady in 1895."

be both extravagant and wasteful. The best farmers will be the first to protest against such action, for the farmer has no time nor facilities for housing or breaking in an army of small, inefficient workers.

"The council of national defense has urged that no standards protect women and children be lowered at present, and yet, in a burst of enthusiasm, some state officials desire to waive all compulsory education and child labor laws. The policy of recruiting agricultural and factory workers from the school children eleven to thirteen years old, adopted in Great Britain at the beginning of the war, already stands revealed as short-sighted, and standards too recklessly set aside are now being restored. Sir James Yoxall said in parliament, 'A large portion of our elementary school system is in ruins of Louvain, but there is to some extent a likeness.' Shall we allow this to be true of America?"

"The National Child Labor committee has found that the percent of retardation of children out of school for farm work is exceptionally high. If this is true in normal times, what will be the result of wholesale exemptions from the compulsory education laws in time of war?"

WANT SECTIONS TO PLEDGE DEFINITE DAYS OF LABOR

St. Paul, May 3.—Martha O'Brien of Crookston, reported to the State Public Safety Commission today that she had obtained from business and professional men, pledges of a definite number of days work in that section. In doing so, it was announced she has accomplished such an undertaking that will be acceptable at St. Paul and which is recommended to other sections of Minnesota, in order to give assurances to farmers that there will be no shortage of labor.

"This is an important step in the general movement to give everyone of the 2,500,000 men, women and children of Minnesota, an opportunity to take part in the food production and other activities that Commission is pushing forward," the Secretary of the Public Safety Commission said.

CHILD LABOR COMMITTEE OPPOSE PLAN OF LANGER TO DEPOPULATE SCHOOLS

Shipping Boys and Girls Indiscriminately to Farms Would Be Extravagant

The plan of Attorney General William S. Langer to depopulate the schools of North Dakota during the spring months in order that the pupils, young and old, may assist the farmers with their seeding, is strenuously opposed by the National Child Labor committee, among whose honorary members are Woodrow Wilson, William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt. Writing from New York headquarters to superintendents of schools in North Dakota, Owen R. Lovejoy, general secretary of this committee, says:

"Children can undoubtedly perform such service as the president suggests in calling upon 'able-bodied boys of the land to turn in hosts to the farms', and no child's desire to help should be allowed to fall of expression. But to ship boys and girls indiscriminately to the farms would
